THE GLEANINGS FROM LETTERS OF MOTHER

Knowledge, jnana, is already there, it is only to be unveiled. Bhakti, love for God, is the special gift of God. Pray for this boon only. There is nothing sweeter than love, nothing higher than love, nothing mightier than love. The omnipotence of God is in His love for creation. Take away the idea of love, and God won't be with you, intimate in relationship. He becomes the unknown, dwelling in the region transcending the mind, commanding no more your love, admitting no more any prayer or supplication for grace.

Child, the dualism in love is the most charming factor in personal religion. This dualism is not of ignorance, but of delight. From integral knowledge of God comes the capacity to assume the dualistic relationship with God. This is the source of all ecstasy. This assumed dualism within the integrality of supreme wisdom bestows upon one a supreme bliss which even the monistic absorption cannot give. Escape from the world! There is an ideal higher than this and that is to become a participant in His play through love. Love, love, love. Dissolve yourself in love. Love is the deliverer as well as deliverance. Love knows no bondage. He who loves; alone lives. Love is life itself.

Faith is the keynote of spiritual development. Faith is the divine elixir, the healing balm, the raft that takes one across the illusion of transmigration. Faith is the doorway to emancipation. Do you know what is it that ultimately liberates you from bondage of samsara? It is faith that you are ever-free. In the wake of this faith alone commences the religious life. Religion is not in books, not in talks, not in dreams or visions. It lives in faith alone.

The incident which you have narrated in your letter proves the potency of faith and the efficacy of surrender to Divine Mother. Wondrous is the realm of beatitude which you have to enter in order to discover the blessing of faith and to experience the strength of self-conquest. March on, making your faith in the Divine Mother firm and your reliance on Her mercy unwavering. Seek emancipation from samsara. Pray for purity of mind. Surrender your will so that you may become a vehicle of Mother's grace. Life has a mightier purpose than a sojourn in a dream world.
